The web servers runs on Windows NT. This machine operates as the web server and the servlet engine. The application is written in Java and uses a servlet based architecture. All Gepetto (batch) processes and e-mail handling are also run on this machine. The Gepetto processes are written in Java and run as separate threads of execution.

The database server runs on Windows NT. The database product is Oracle 8i.x. Multiple customers can be housed in a single physical DB.

Using this promotion process, the words that get used the most would appear for selection by the users, thereby enhancing their experience.

Repeat this process for each letter and each category in the database

Assumptions:

1. An initial pool of words has been created for a given level 2 category.
2. Once a timeframe (week), the routine described above is run to determine what words appear where in the application.

FIG. 17

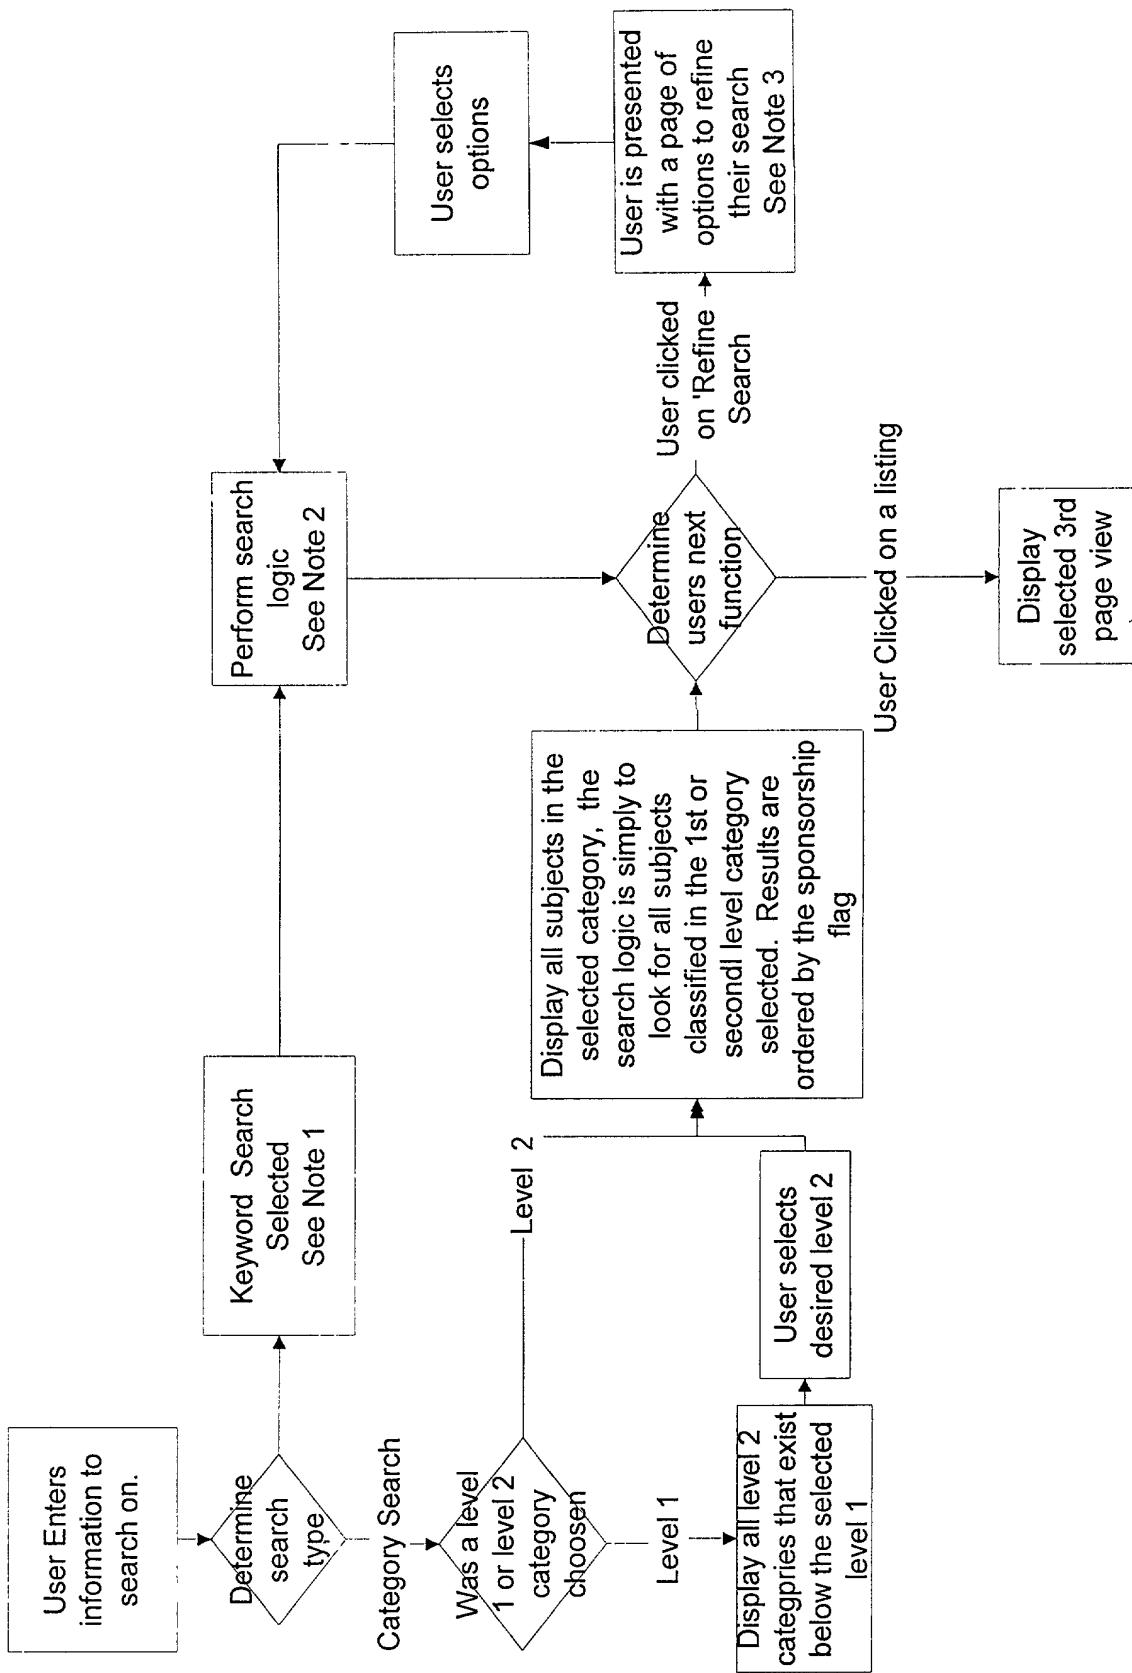

FIG. 18

Note 1
 Locate any entries in the database that match the keywords specified. The keywords in the database are made up of the following:

- + Organization Name
- + Descriptive Words
- + Category Descriptors
- + Subject Description

The keywords that are located, must be rated greater than a given value before it qualifies as a match.

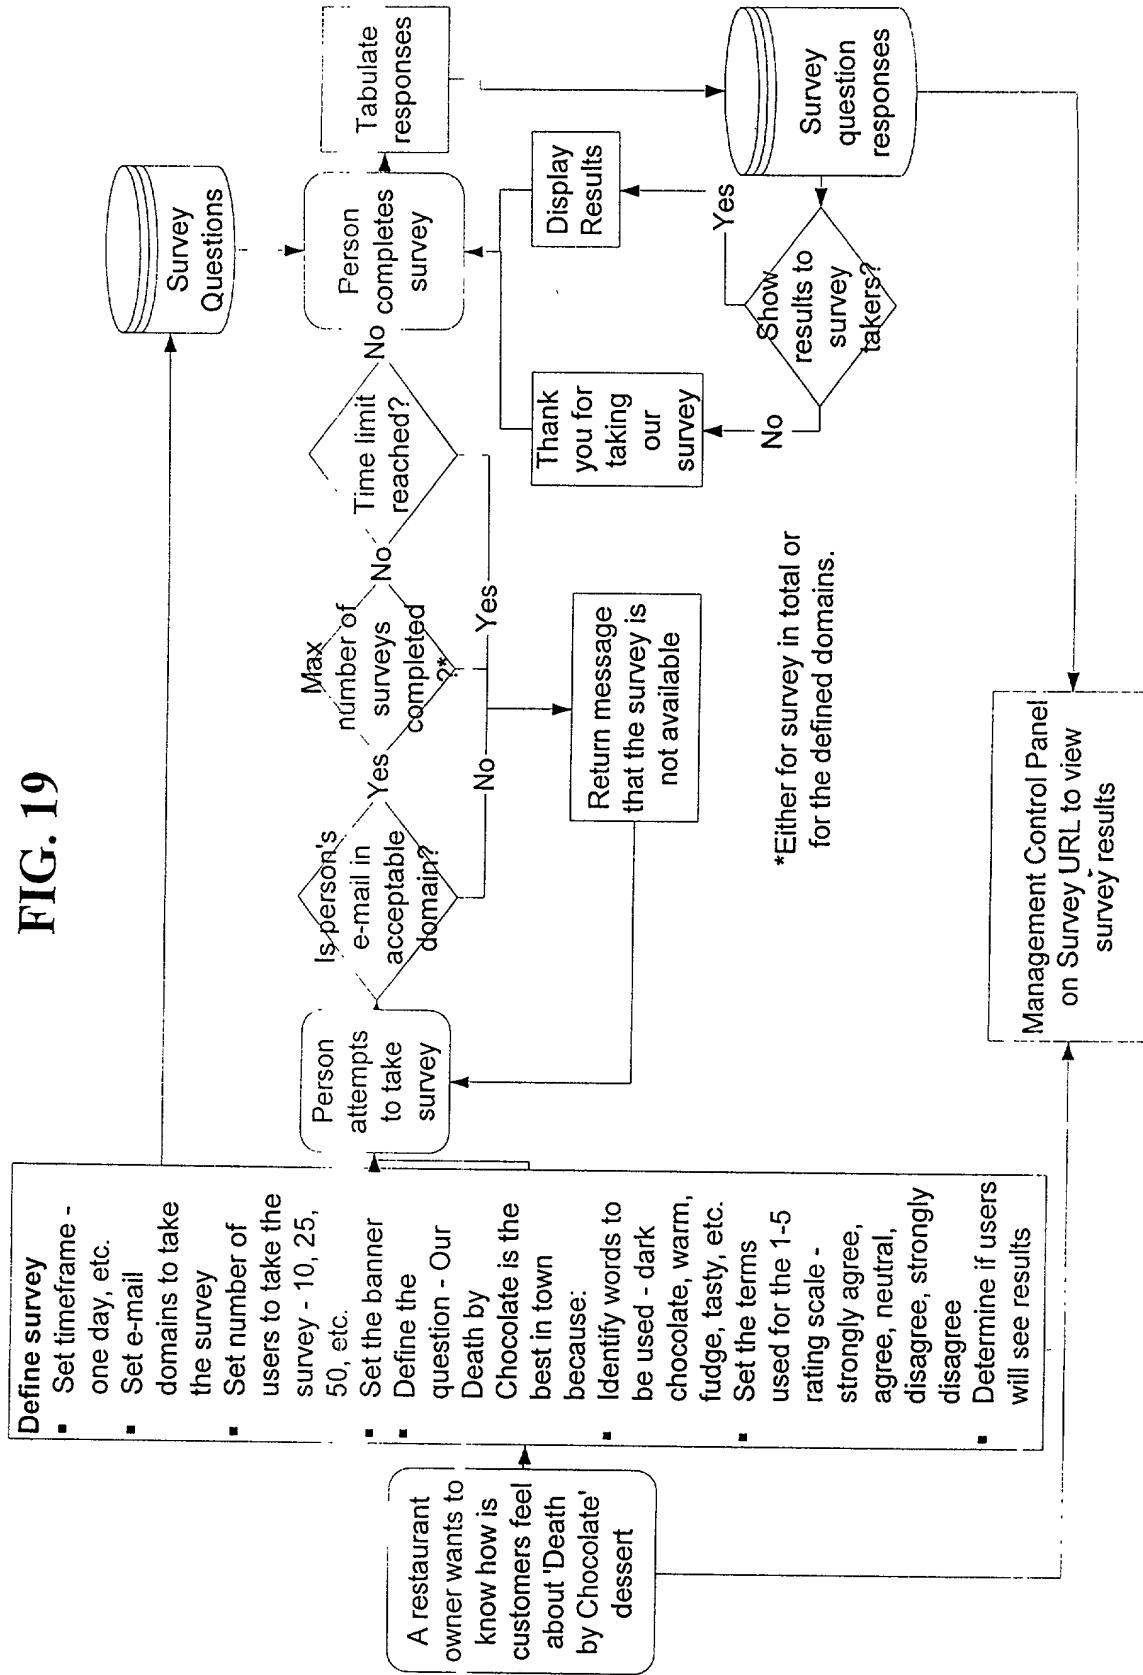

Note 2
 The search logic is as follows:
 Search for a subject that meets the original criteria specified, plus the following:
 + If a location field was specified, finds all subjects that are in that location, if a city was specified, check the subjects' city as well as the surrounding cities field.
 + If an appeal word was checked or entered in the free form entry box, check for subjects that have that descriptive word
 + If time or cost were specified, add these values to the selection criteria.

Note 3
 Any option selected by the user will be applied in conjunction with the original criteria to further qualify the results of the query. The options presented to the user include the following:

- + Location: City, State, Zip
- + What appeals to you: A list of words selected by the system that have been used most often to describe the subjects included in the given category.
- + Free form word field: A location where the user can put a word or words that did not appear in 'What appeals to you'
- + Amount of money you would like to spend
- + Amount of time you would like to spend

Become a Correspondent!

This is a Limited Exclusive Opportunity!

We are looking for real people – just like you – to help us create the first wordofmouth directory that enhances the way people share their knowledge on the Internet. You will be the inaugural Correspondents of this community and touch lives all over the world! As an inaugural Correspondent you will:

- Be the first to add, rate and review the content that will be published in this directory
- Earn monetary rewards for your contribution
- Earn a percentage of sponsorship revenue
- Enjoy exclusive use of the website while creating this community

Can anyone be a Correspondent?

Correspondents are selected by zip code, age and gender to ensure a full and unbiased range of subjects on our website. Correspondents must be US residents over the age of 18. This exclusive opportunity is limited to 6 per zip code.

What are other benefits of a Correspondent?

- Participate in contests and prizes
- Be recognized for your contribution
- Gain special access and benefits of our website
- Touch lives around the world
- Enjoy a fun and interesting hobby
- Customize My page to view and keep track of your contribution
- Receive updates on the Top Rated and Best of Best subjects each month
- Receive updates on all subjects in your area each month
- Bookmark your favorite subjects

What do I have to do and how much time does it take?

Helping us manage and maintain the quality of content takes no longer than 20-30 minutes a week, and you earn points at the same time! There are 2 ways to earn points:

1. Points for your activities:

FIG. 27-B

1. Points for your activities:

- Add, rate and review subjects
- Review and approve content added by others
- Maintain quality of content by updating subjects when necessary
- Refer friends to our website

2. Points for activities performed by others:

- Every time a subject is added in your area by someone else
- Every time a subject or comment you add is viewed

Survey Title

The Survey Title is used to identify this survey within the survey management functions. Give your survey a name that is relevant to you.

Greg's Personalized Plate

Offered By

This field allows you to tell people who is offering the survey. It will appear as "A Word Of Mouth Survey offered by custom text". If you leave this field blank, the offered by line will not appear on your survey.

Marilyn Manson

Survey Topic

The Survey Topic is used to describe your survey to survey respondents. Typically it will give you a specific item to focus on when rating the elements below.

Enter your choice on what Greg's personalized plate should say.

Survey Elements

The Survey Elements are the actual rating items for your survey. You can check the required box on each item if you want to require those be answered. If you need more elements than there are boxes, just click the link at the bottom to add some more.

Response Validations

How you validate those who respond to your survey will affect what remaining options are available to you. There are two options available: anonymous and email address.

Anonymous is the simpler of the two. If you don't care who responds to your survey, or how many times they respond, but just want to listen to everyone's views on your topic without raising privacy concerns, use this option.

Email Address verification on the other hand, will allow you to limit which organizations respond to your survey and how many times a particular user responds. Additionally, an email verification will be sent to insure that the respondent is who they say they are.

Anonymous Require Email Address

Response Limitations (only available when requiring email address)

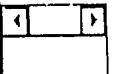

If you are requiring an email address, you can also limit the number of times a given email address responds to your survey, and allow only email address from particular organizations (domain names) from responding to your survey.

Maximum responses per email address
use zero to specify unlimited

FIG. 99-A

There are several areas with text that you are allowed to customize. This allows you to personalize your survey to your audience. We have listed here the fields that will be used based upon the options you selected.

Survey Introduction - This appears at the top of the screen when someone is responding to your survey. Use it to welcome your participants to the survey and perhaps to explain the goal of the survey.

Welcome to the survey! Let the president know where you'd like to have the Christmas party.

Collect Email Address - This appears when we collect the email address for a person wishing to participate in the survey.

Please enter your email address.

Final Results - This text would appear as an introduction to your results. This text is only shown once the survey has been activated. If you allow results viewing while the survey is active, a separate field is used.

Thanks to everyone for participating, the final results are as follows:

121/124

Current Results - This text would appear as an introduction to your results. This text is only shown before the survey has been activated. Final results screens use the above text field.

Thanks for participating! Here's how the vote is going so far:

Rating Scale - This text appears above the rating legend. It is used to describe to the respondent how to use the ratings.

Ratings use a 5 for "very important" and 1 for "not important at all".

122/124

Completion Thank-You - This text would appear as a thank-you for participating. This thank-you page is only shown after a person participates, but you do not allow view of results while the survey is active.

Thank you for your participation in our survey.

Results Not Available - This text can appear in several instances. It is used primarily when someone attempts to view the results of the survey directly (not after responding), but they are not available to that person. The unavailability could be due to the survey still being active, but you do not allow viewing while active. Or it could be someone who did not participate in the survey, and you only allow viewing to participants.

We thank you for your interest in the results of our survey. Unfortunately, these results are currently unavailable.
